Foreword

We, the graduating class of 1963, have tried in our own way to preserve the past three years in this yearbook. As our friends look through these pages may they remember us as we shall remember them. Thank you for all you have done for us.

OUR PARENTS

Many have contributed to our having become nurses, but the two people who have watched our dream of a three year old mature into a reality of a twenty-one year old, the two who have been our guideposts, we shall always deeply love and honor,

Mom and Dad.

MISS JUANITA YARBOROUGH

We, the Class of 1963, dedicate our yearbook to one who has been both instructor and friend to us these three years. She has given us the firm guidance that a frightened Freshman needs the first days on the hall, the gentle push that a hesitant Junior needs in changing the first dressing, and has been a constant spur in getting the Seniors to acheive their full potentialities.

Miss Yarborough, this is a very small expression of our deep gratitude.

DR. M.B. DAVIS

Twice this year we were saddened by the deaths of two members of our medical staff. First by the quiet death of Dr. Stirewalt, then by the tragic death of Dr. Davis. All of us who knew them shall long remember their kind and gentle ways and constant service to those in need.

While working on the medical units we get to know our patients much better than on the other units. The sight of hands folded in prayer becomes just as familiar to us as the oxygen tents. Here, seeing a patient sit up for the first time after weeks of strict bed rest becomes a joyous occasion for everyone.

Working on Third Floor is always a happy occasion for everyone. The expectant mothers come in very frightened of the unknown, but the thought of why they are here usually calms them. Watching a mother examine her baby for the first time can be both amusing and heart-warming.

Even working on Pediatrics with the ill children is a happy time. Children never seem to run out of ways to entertain us.

A little "Tender Loving Care" goes a long way here

I am sure after we graduate our most vivid memories will be of the seven weeks spent in the Operating Room. Walking into this department of our hospital is like entering a strange and interesting world. Our first weeks here are spent learning a new language, sterile technique, and coordination be tween doctor and nurse. We do this with knocking knees, shaking hands, and clenched teeth.

Our next adventure is then in the Recovery Room where we learn the "How's and Why's" of reacting the patient.

After the Recovery Room we move on to the surgical units. Here we see how surgery has corrected many defects, some unnotice-able, others quite obvious. When the latter is true, we find that psychological treatment of the patient outweighs physical care.

Working in the Emergency Room really tests our abilities as nurses. Here we do not have just one category of illness but a wide variety. When we hear the screaming siren we never know what the ambulance is bringing. We will take with us many memories of the two weeks spent in the Emergency Room.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE PLEDGE

I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly to pass my life in purity and to practice my profession faithfully.

I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug.

I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling.

With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

The School of Pediatric Nursing of the Children's Hospital in Washington, D.C. is an ideal setting for the study of the nursing of children.

In Washington almost all nationalities and all income brackets are represented which results in a wide variety of illnesses brought to the hospital.

Our curriculum includes three months of instruction and experience in Medical and Surgical Pediatrics, Isolation, Out-Patient Department, and Psychiatry.

While in Washington we also enjoy concerts, sight-seeing, movies, plays, and parades-just to name a few.

Our three months affiliation at Chestnut Lodge was both educational and entertaining. While we were there we learned quite a bit about ourselves as well as about mental illness.

Due to the location of Rockville we found our social life to be at its best. I am sure we all agree that this is invaluable experience to both our education and social status.

Capping

We looked forward to the day we would receive our caps as if it was the end of the world. In a sense, I suppose that was true because it would determine who would be asked to leave the program and who would stay.

We all half-way felt that when we put the cap on we would know just everything! But the next morning when we reported for duty we found this to be far from true. We still had to search for the right answers, and we are still searching for knowledge.

Every worthwhile accomplishment, big or little, has its stages of drudgery and triumph: a beginning, a struggle, and a victory.
